PUTHAN'S HOME GYCLORODIA - 1 Hand Book of Universal Biography, by Parke Godwin, 2 Hand book of liter ature and fine arts by George Ripley and Bayard Taylor, 3 Hand book the Useful Arts, by T. Antisell, M. D. New York, G. P. Putnam, 1852.

We do not know any way in which as conductors of the press editors can better serve their renders than by an expression of randid opinion upon the publications of the day. To render these opinions valuable the utterance of the judgment must be calm and decided, and based upon a careful examination of the works noticed. We do not know any publisher in America who has done more for the diffusion of truly useful and interesting books than Mr Putnam, In the selection of works the publisher has been guided by much good literary mate. An examination of his catalogues for the last 3 or 4 years will show how heavy are the obligations of the reading community to his enterprice and good taste. To Mr. Putuam we owe the elegant uniform suitions of Washington Irving - and Fernimore Cooper,-the splendid volumes of Layard's Ninevall, that most exquisite and truly American contribution, Miss Conger's Rural hours which will forever re main the worthy associate of White's natural lustory of Selborna and Jesse's country lite. Now we have these truly capital volumes of the Home Cyclopædia named at the head of our article.

These backs are absolutely necessary to every young man who desires to be well turnished in his mental resources and who would take a position in refined and intelligent society. Each volume is complete in itself, and forms a Vade meeum upon the important sub ject which it proposes to treat. The volume upon Biography will furnish a world of knowledge to the exteful reader, and we assure our readers and especially our young friends that they cannot buy a better book. These books are books and in themselves a Library of choice reading.

Every family should regard the Home Cyclopædia as a necessary part of the Family Furniture. Mr. Peek has them

Of the sixth volume. With the warment paternal affection mingled with deeply afflicted feelings, I dedicate this, the last volume of my Works, to the memory of my deceased children.

Though this is, of course, by a warn and personal and political friend, who sympathises generally in his political views, yet those who cannot coincide in these views will still find the author candid and moderate, and always chaste and elegant. Thus, besides meeting here a beautiful memoir of the great orator, they will find it to be a valuable contribution to our political history .-The carly part of the life is delineated with much effect. We could wish that every young man would read the account here presented of the boyhood youth, and inhorious studies of Daniel Webster; that, wholever might be his natural gifts, he might be encouraged by such example, to prepare himself for usefulness by long and severe prepara-

BIRTHS AND DEATHS AT SKA .- On the recent trip of the steamship Ohio, from Chargres to Havana, Mr. A. S. Coffin, a passenger, from Cincinnati, died of consumption ; and, on the next day, the wife of T. C. Ledyard, another passen ger, gave birth to twins, (boy and girl,) one of which only survived.

HANDBILLS IN NEWSPAPERS.—There is a law, not generally understood, which prohibits the circulation of handbills by enclosing them in newspapers. The law was passed in 1825, and the penalty for each effence is fifty dollars, yet it is scarcely ever heeded by publishers in the country. The postmaster of Roches ter recently received a note from the Post Office Department, directing him to " exercise vigilance in seeking to discover any violation of the law, and notify the Posimisster General of any case that may come to his knowledge, to the end that he may direct him to prosecute the violators." Take heed, you who have offended. [Buffulo (N. Y.) Adver-

A Novel INCENDIARY.—In London, lately, a fire broke out in Dorset Square, caused in the following singular manner:
A favorite jack day kept by the occupier, entered the second-floor front room, and having chained possession of a lu-effer match, commenced rubbing the same on the floor until it became ignited. when the flames came in contact with when the names came in contact with the bed-clother, and in an instant the place was filled with fire. The fire was not extinguished until considerable dam-age was done.

A lawyer at Poughkeepsie, was op-plied to during his life time, by an indi-gent neighbor for his opinion on a ques-tion of law, in which the interests of the then on take, in which the invertees in the latter were materially involved.—The lawyer gave his advice, and charged the poor wretch three dollars for it.—
"There is the money," said his client; "it is all I have in the world; and my family have been a long time without pork !! "Thank God !! replied the law-yer, "my wite has never known the want of pork since we matried!" "Nor never will," the countryman rejoined, "so long will," the countryman rejoined, "so long as she has such a great hog as you!"—

ioved by us all, may de to our children from generality a congration, is the fervant prayer of the Your faithful and obedient servant, DANIEL VERSTER.

Sound Chilicism .- There, was some sense in the remark of a Seotchman, who in reading the saying solomon —" Snow is beautiful in its season," exclaimed:

'Ay, nac doubt it was beautiful to you sitting with the vines and lassies of Jerusalem aside you ; but had you been a poor stonemason, ye hae raid nee sich a things!

Important to Merchants and Pilots. Judge Kane, of Philadelphia has decided that a vessel and her owners are not liable for injuries done by her collision with another vessel, if he has a pilot on board ; but that the pilot is responsible for any damage done to other vessels, by callisions, while he is on board. Judge Kane decided that the pilot is not the servant of the owners, as the law compels them to take him on hoard, and that they are not responsible for his neglect, misconduct or want of

Dr. Jonas King, a missionary of the American Board, and U.S. Consular Agent, at that place, has been tried and condemned to fifteen days' imprisonment, and then to be sept out of the Kingdom of Greece, for having preached in his own house, against the doctrines of the Greek church, and also for having published a book against said h. Dr. King was defended by two of the ablest lawyers in Greece, and both members of the Greek church ; while many of the leading citizens testi, fied in his behalf. Those who appeared against him are said to have been of the most vile and profligate character, and appeared to be the more embittered against him from the fact that he was an American, although he has resided in Greece for 24 years .-The prison to which he was consigned is of the most fonthsome character, and the gendarmes had to escort him thither, in order to protect him from popular

By Here is the last slander which has been put in circulation about widows. The calumniator did not dare to locate his base insinuation in any Christian land, but having set out with a preface in which he lays it down as a settled point that human nature is the same all over the world, he proceeds to tell us that on a certain occasion a Chinese widow was found funning the grave of her late husband, and on being asked why she performed so singular an operalion, replied "that she had promised not to marry again while the grave remained damp, and as it dried very slowly, she saw no harm in assisting the process ?"

TRIED TO! BLOW HIMSELF, SP .- A Frenchman resident in London, recently conceived an entirely new style of selfdestruction. He first bought an egg in the market, extracted its contents (by suction") and filled the shell with about three ounces of gunpowder. Then going into a very crowded thoroughfare-we presume to give colat to his enterprisehe placed the infernal machine in his mouth, and touched it off" with a match. Instead, however, of blowing his head to atoms, the powder, when ignited, merely poured forth a stream of fire and smoke from the operture in the shell, but without doing any serious harm to the man. The astenishment of the passersby, at beholding a human mouth suddealy become the crater of an active volcano, may be imagined. The disappointed man was taken into custody by the police, and conveyed to the hospital.

The following amendment has been adopted to Maine Law liquor bill, now under consideration in the Pennsyl. vania Legislature. It was adopted in the Senate, by a vote of 17 to 15. The bill finally passed the Senate by the same vote:

"That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any manufacturer of wine or cuter, or brower of malt liquors, or distiller of spirituous liquor, who shall make or distil the same directly from agricultural products, and who shall not sell or otherwise dispose of the same in a lees quantity than thirty-one gallons! BY TELEGRAPH,

Washington, April 10. A caucus of the Whig members of Congress was held in this city last eyening.

Hon. Willie P. Mangnm, of North Carolina, presided, assisted by Messrs. Chandler, of Pa., and Dockery, as secretaries 🕟

Mr. Marshal, or Kentucky, offered the compromise resolution passed by the Whig caucus in December; upon which n warm debate ensued,

The resolution, however, was not finally acted upon, though the Southern members avowed that they would not go into the national convention without a previous declaration of principles.

Nothing was said directly about any particular candidate.

The caucus adjourned at 11 o'clock, until Tuesday week.

Mr. Bryunt states that the poem is not from his pen; editors have probably been led into the mistake from the fact of the announcement of the two poems in the second line which Bryant wrote. "A Vision of humortality" is very beautitul, and not unworthy of the pen of Bryant.

POTRAM'S HOME CYCLOPODIA. - 1 Hand Hook of Universal Biography, by Parke Godwin. 2 Hand book of literature and fine arts by George Ripley and Bayard Taylor, 3 Hand book of the Usaid Arta, by T. Antisell, M. D. New York, G. P. Pulnam, 1852.

We do not know any way in which us conductors of the press editors can better serve their readers than by au expression of candid opinion upon the publications of the day. To render these apinions valuable the utterance of the judgment must be calm and decided, and based upon a careful examination of the works noticed. We do not know any publisher in America who has done more for the diffusion of truly useful and interesting books than Mr. Putname. In the selection of works the publisher has been guided by much good literary mate. An examination of his catalogues for the last 3 or 4 years will show how heavy are the obligations of the reading community to his enterprise and good taste. To Mr. Putnam we owe the elegant uniform editions of Washington Irving - and Fennimore Cooper,-inceptendid volumes of Lay? ard's Nineval, that most exquisite and truly American contribution, Miss Cooper's Rural hours which will forever remain the worthy associate of White's matural history of Schoome and Jesse's country lite. Now we have these truly capital volumes of the Home Cyclopadia named at the head of our article.

These books are absolutely necessary to every young man who desires to be well turnished in his mental resources, and who would take a position in refined and intelligent society. Each volume is complete in itself, and forms a Vade mecum upon the important subject which it proposes to treat. The volume upon Biography will furnish a world of knowledge to the careful render, and we assure our readers and especially our young friends that they cannot buy a better book. These books are hooks and in themselves a Library of choice reading.

Every family should regard the Home Cyclopædia as a necessary part of the Family Furniture. Mr. Peck has them or sale.

TThe Providence Journal, in speak ing of the late election, makes the following well-merited remarks in regard to the voters of this Island :-

The learner.—We desire to add our endorsement to the following paragraphs from the Newport News. The heautiful island which has given the name to the State, is always true to her principle. The sturdy and prosper ous farmers of Portsmouth and Mildletown, and the true-hearted Rhode laburates of Newport, would not know landers of Newport, would not know how to vote Lecotoco, if they should

WORKS OF DARIEL WESSTER. We quote from the Boston Post the following notice of the six beautiful volumes, edited by the Hon. Edward Everett, forthcoming from the press of Messre-Little, Brown, & Co.

The reader will be greatly interested in the touching dedications of each of those volumes. The first is dedicated to his nieces, Mrs. Alice Bridge Whipple and Mrs. Mary Ann Sanborn, the daughters of Ezekiel Webster, the brother of Daniel; and this not only for the love Mr. Webber bears for them. but from the desire, as he expresses h, that his brother's name might be associated with his own, so long us any tidings written or spoken by him should he regarded or read; the second is dediented to Isaac. P. Davis, Esq., as an affectionate and grateful neknowledgement of warm private friendship; the third to Careline Le Roy Webster, his hope hald out to the mest industrious, wife, us a tribute of his affections and the fourth to Pletcher Webster, his conthis only surviving child and the object of his affections and hopes, to the fifth

DEDIDATION

Of the nixth volume. With the warment paternal affection mingled with deeply afflicted feelings, I dedicate this, the last volume of my Works, to the memory of my deceased

Julia Webiter Applelon, heloved in all the relations of Daughter, Wife, Mother, Sister, and Friend; and

Major Edward-Webster, who died in Mexico, in the military service of the United States, with unblemished honor and reputation, and who entered that service solely from a desire to be useful to his country, and do honor to the State in which he was

"Go geatle Spirits, to your destined rest; While I reversed our Nature's kindler doom, Pour forth a Father's sorrow on your tomb." DAFIEL WEBSTER!

Though this is, of course, by a warm and personal and political friend, who sympathices generally in his political views, yet those who cannot coincide in these views will still find the author candid and moderate, and always chaste and elegant. Thus, besides meeting here a heautiful memoir of the great oralor, they will find it to be a valuable contribution to our political history.-The early part of the life in delineated with much effect. We could wish that every young man would read the account here presented of the boyhead, youth and laborious studies of Daniel Webster; that, whatever might be his natural gifts, he might be encouraged by such example, to prepare himself for usefulness by long and severe prepara-

A Novel INCENDIARY.-In London, A NOVEL INCENDITY.—In London, lately, a fire broke out in Dorset Square, caused in the following singular manner:

A favorite juck daw kept by the occupier, entered the second-floor front room, and house obblished accordance. and having chained possession of a lu-eiler mutch, commenced rubbing the same on the floor until it became ignited, when the flames came in contact with the hed-clothes, and in an instant the place was filled with fire. The fire was not extinguished until considerable damage was done.

A lawyer at Poughkeepste, was applied to during his life time, by an indigent neighbor for his opinion on a question of law, in which the interests of the latter were materially involved.—The lawyer gave his advice, and charged the poor wretch three dollars for it.—
"There is the money," said his client; it is all I have in the world; and my family have been a long time without family have been a long time without potk!" "Thank God!" replied the lawyer, "my wife has never known the want of pork since we married!" "Nor never will." the countryman rejoined, "so long as she has such a great hog as you! The lawyer was so pleased with the smartness of the repartee, that he forgate the poor fellow, and returned his

" Not buried her ?" said the inquisitive passenger, " and pray tell me why

"Simply because she is'nt dead," replied the driver.

CONDEMNATION OF DR. KING, U. S. CONSUL AT ATHENS .- A letter from Athens, in Greece, announced that Rev. Dr. Jonas King, a missionary of the American Board, and U.S. Consular condemned to fifteen days' imprisonment, and then to be sept out of the Kingdom of Greece, for having preached two of the ablest lawyers in Greece, and both members of the Greek church; while many of the leading citizens testified in his behalf. Those who appeared against him are said to have been of the most vile and profligate character, and appeared to be the more embittered against him from the fact that he was an American, although ho has resided in Greece for 24 years .-The prison to which he was consigned the gendarmes hadto escort him thither, in order to protect him from popular vengeance.

TRIED TO BLOW HIMSELF, UP .- A Frenchman resident in London, recently conceived an entirely new style of selfdestruction. He first bought an egg in the market, extracted its contents (by suction") and lilled the shell with about three ounces of gunpowder. Then going into a very crowded thoroughfare-wepresume to give colat to his enterprisahe placed the infernal machine in his mouth, and touched it off" with a match. Instead, however, of blowing his head to atoms, the powder, when ignited, merely poured forth a stream of fire and smoke from the aperture in the shell, but without doing any serious harm to the man. The astonishment of the passersby, at beholding a human mouth sudenly become the crater of an active volcano, may be imagined. The disappointed man was taken into custody by the police, and conveyed to the hospital.
